We'Moon

We'Moon is an astrological moon calendar. Ecofeminist appointment book. Daily guide to natural rhythms.

Lunar perspective through the 13 moons of the year. It also provides access to an international web of fabulous, creative womyn. Art and writing from womyn around the world. Womyn-loving. Goddess inspired themes. An active network of womyn sharing work and ideas across the planet.

We'Moon means "We of the Moon". The Moon, whose cycles run in our blood is the original womyn's calendar. Like the moon, we'moon circle the Earth. We are drawn to one another. We come in different shapes, colors, and sizes. We are continually transforming. With all our different hues and points of view we are one. We'moon means "women". Instead of defining ourselves in relation to men (woman means "wife of man" in Old English; female is a derivative of "male"), we use the word we'moon to define ourselves by our primary relation to the natural sources of cosmic flow ("we of the moon"). Other terms we'moon use are womyn, wimmin, womon, womb-one. We'Moon is a moon calendar for we'moon. As we'moon, we seek to be whole in ourselves, rather than dividing ourselves in half and hoping that some "other half" will complete the picture. We see the whole range of life's potential embodied by we'moon, and do not divide the universe into sex-role stereotypes according to the heterosexual model. Instead, We'Moon is a sacred space in which to explore and celebrate the diversity of she-ness on earth. The calendar is we'moons' space. We see the goddess equally in the sun and the moon, in the earth and the sky.
